Lanvin

Since its founding in 1889, French fashion house Lanvin has moved with the times. Its 1970s line has a strong military aesthetic, giving you the excuse to dress down (and, crucially, remain comfortable) in oversized, quilted shearling duffels and botanical camouflage prints.

Ermenegildo Zegna Couture

Having spent more than a century building a solid reputation on the strength of its tailoring, today the Milanese brand offers quality on all fronts. Luxe fabrics fused with active wear are the focal points of its new collection, which befits a brand that has run its own artisan mills since 1910.
